WHAT THE PRODUCERS SAY

BRANDON OPERA CO.
OPENS HERE MONDAY
Repertoire of Light Opera
Classics Will be Played
All Next Week

With all the old favorites such as "The Bohemian Girl," "The Mikado" and some melodious new ones the Brandon Opera Company will return to the Empire on Monday, May 11th.

It is not often that such a musical treat mixed with rare entertainment is offered, for this is the only organization of its kind in the west. Recent critics have pronounced the company equal to the famous old Bostonians which have a tradition in the musical life of all that was best in the musical life of the world.

The Brandon Opera Company has brought to the west all the best talent of New York. They sing not only have the voices, but the looks, which add so much to the complete appeal of operatic roles. Those who have seen the company in the past, know that the Brandon Opera Company makes the world of the song come true. Carl Bodensieck, baritone, Delia de Vries, soprano, and George Oliver, tenor, are all artists in their line.

The repertoire for their return engagement to Edmonton includes "The Chocolate Soldier," on Monday

Geniuses Can Be Created

Reinald Werrenath, the popular baritone who is to sing here on Monday and Tuesday at Pantages theatre, believes that we can create geniuses. He has one of our greatest heritages as an example of the possibility of one man's creation of musical geniuses. It could be a matter of inheritance, he argues, for science can accomplish the betterment of the human—both physical and mental.

"Why not apply the Mendelian theory to the human race?" he asks. "Why not cultivate and pass on to the next generation a particular talent, whether singing or dancing?" Why not make music and physical handicaps as important as the actual family members? "I don't know," says the baritone, "but I believe that we can create geniuses. I want my children to be as good physical specimens and as fine mental and artistic beings as my forebears. Think of the great possibilities of the future of every individual on this planet—so necessary in a scientific world."

MADAME SANS GENE
AT EMPRESS THEATRE

"Madame Sans Gene" with Gloria Swanson in the feature role opens a week's run at the Empress theatre commencing today.

Known for Gloria Swanson, whose screen efforts are always acted in elaborate settings and dramas, "Madame Sans Gene" is an unusually elaborate production. It was filmed in France, and the backgrounds include the most famous of French landmarks and the most famous of French directors. Gloria is seen singing in the actual grandeur of Marie Antoinette's palace, if the scene which that unfortunate queen conducted her numerous intrigues and conducted with Napoleon Bonaparte.

The actual release of the picture, the one Napoleon occupied, "The Empress," is a story of the rise and fall of the empress. It is a story of the rise and fall of the empress. It is a story of the rise and fall of the empress.

A street vaudeville bill, with two headliners and an added attraction, has been booked for next week at the Pantages theatre, starting Thursday afternoon.

The Pantages Revue shares honors with "The Christmas Letter," a dramatic playlet that won the Lambda club prize for the best sketch of the year.

A colorful singing and dancing revue, "The Pantages Revue," in which Alani and Fennome and their eight beautiful actresses singing and dancing, will make a big hit locally. A very fine presentation of variety dance numbers, staged artistically with a wealth of scenic decoration, makes this one of the most

"The Christmas Letter," is a dramatic playlet, and it will be with high lights of comedy, and was written by Henry Arthur and Clayton White. As stated before, it won the Lambda club prize for the best sketch of the year.

The great attraction is provided by two attractive and talented young ladies, Evely and Kellie, who present a versatile program of comedy songs and other numbers in a most entertaining style. Dora Jarry stands out prominently as a comedienne who can draw the laughs.

LON CHANEY STARRING
IN RIALTO FEATUREExcellent Picture Draws
Crowds to Popular First Street Theatre

Every element of suspense, every thrilling incident, and every act that sends shivers down the spine, along an audience's spine, is said to be embodied in the Roland West production of "The Monster," the Metro-Goldwyn picture which finished a three-day run at the Rialto theatre today.

There are ghostly hands that stretch forth menacingly, there are sliding panels in which queer faces appear, and a denuded surgeon who fascinates his victims with hypnotic power. There is an exciting story of a mysterious disappearance, there are two young men who, with the most beautiful girl and their desire to save her life, face a terrible and courageous death that is said to make listeners hold on to their chairs in suspense.

Lon Chaney and Johnny Arthur are the featured players. Others in the cast are Hal Skone, Charles A. Selton, Walter James, Knott Eilersen, George Austin, Edward McVade and Ethel Wain. Gertrude Gramstad plays Betty Watson, the heroine.

Roland West adapted Crane Wilbur's stage success to the screen, and photographed by Hal Skone. "The Monster" was directed by William A. Wellman and the titles by C. Gardner Sullivan. "The Monster" is a Metro-Goldwyn picture, produced by Roland West Productions, the role of the wily, diabolical little French baroness, who used to wear Napoleon's shirt for him, when he was an impetuous corporal, who married one of Napoleon's sergeants and who was executed by the guillotine during the French Revolution into the title of Duchess and resided in Roland's castle, and sent into his life a laughing and a laughing and a laughing, ending by having the Empress's honor and winning for herself Napoleon's eternal gratitude.

Charles de Roche, the Pharaoh of Geol is DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," heads the cast, played in support of Miss Swanson. The picture was directed by James P. Munk. From Forest Halsey's adaptation of the stage play by Victorian Sardou and Emile Moreau.

Charles de Roche and Gloria Swanson, appearing in "Madame Sans Gene," at the Empress theatre for a week's run, commencing today.

Theo Pennington, Selma Foster, Sopranos. Two of the principals with the Brandon Opera company at New Empire theatre all next week.

BAD OUTLOOK FOR THE RAILWAYS

Photographs have been sent from Honolulu to New York by wireless telegraphy. Pretty soon it will not be necessary to go south for the winter. All the stay-at-home tourists will have to do in the long winter evening is stir up the fire, turn a button, and watch the waves lap gently on the beach at Waikiki or pull out a plug and see what his summer-neighbors are doing down in sunny California.

LOCAL INACTION DULY NOTED

The Federal Minister of Labor says the Government is considering whether or not action should be taken against the alleged fruit combine in Western Canada. The Federal authorities have apparently come to the conclusion that if anything is to be done to protect the fruit growers of British Columbia or the fruit consumers of the prairie provinces it will have to be done by them, not by the Provincial Governments which draw salaries from the people of the western provinces supposedly for safeguarding their local interests and rights.

A MATTER FOR THE FUTURE

The strongest argument for completing the Hudson Bay railway is that it would put a lot of money into the project and might better stake a few millions more than write down the present investment as a dead loss.

That argument is a good one, means as conclusive as it might be. There are times when the best policy is to quit and forget what has been lost. But while they are not willing to invest at present because money is scarce, the reason is to expect that when times pick up a bit the public will consent to the completion of the road and the making of a thorough-going attempt to exploit the possibilities of the "short-cut."

THE PUBLICITY CURSE

A conference is being held at Geneva with a view to bringing the trade in arms and munitions under some degree of international control. The immediate aim is not to stop such traffic, but to prevent it being done in secret; the proposal being that when a sale is to be made the League of Nations shall issue a permit or license for the transaction.

Britain, Japan and Italy object that the sale of warships should be exempted from the arrangement; on the ground that particular kinds of armament cannot be passed from one country to another in secret, and that regulation to ensure publicity is unnecessary. The objection seems to hint a possible intention to clothe the League in future with power to refuse a license is well as to issue one.

It is not the traffic in warships that keeps the peace of the world in jeopardy, and outbreaks involving in diverse countries. Warships are frightfully costly machines, are only bought when they are actually foreseen to be needed and are practically purchasable only by Governments. But Mexican or Bulgarian factions can buy rifles and ammunition abroad at small expense, and use them to keep up an irregular warfare, bringing along with possibilities of developing into an international strife. If that illicit traffic can be brought into publicity something will have been accomplished toward keeping order and stabilizing peace in zones where it is most in need of guarantees.

DEFLATE THE SUPER-SERVICE

Except among people who do their thinking with their imaginations, the notion that the country would stop having money troubles if the railway were built is finding more and more favor. Geo. P. Graham says the railways have been giving better service than the public have been paying for, while Hon. Mr. Meighen agrees and says that "the line" train service is disguised "financial suicide."

The present railway service has been built up on a basis of competition, restrained only by the willingness of the management to spend and the amount of money they had to spend. Duplicate trains are only one feature in a general policy by which the roads have struggled against each other for prestige and the big end of the business available. The competition was desirable and useful, but it has been carried to unwarranted lengths.

Railway rates are based on the cost of the service that is given, not the cost of the kind of service that ought to be given or that would suffice. The same principle of the accommodations provided for the travelling public, and the more alarming the inducements held out to get people to travel, the higher rates have to go. Directly or indirectly the public have to pay in rates or taxes, what the railways spend in "frills."

Getting the railways to agree to deflate their super-service all along the line may not be easy. "One system, it may be assumed, will not cut out the "down town ticket office" unless the other does; and so on through every detail of the over-organized railway. It may even be possible that some pressure will have to be brought to bear from the public if the readjustment is to be made thorough.

Just there is where the Railway Commission might be useful in its capacity as a regulator. The railways will stop wasting money quickly enough if they are deprived of the power of taking it, or trying to take it, out of the public. A substantial reduction in rates would quickly convince the management that they should be content to provide the amount and kind of transportation service and facilities which the business of the country really requires.

GOVT. SHIPS AND COMBINE RATES.

Ships of the Government Merchant Marine are operating at the rates fixed by the Atlantic conference. So the Parliamentary committee was told by an official of the service on Thursday.

And why not? The vessels in the Government fleet were bought at war-time prices, and have never been able to make a decent profit over the cost of operation and allowance for depreciation. If any ships are entered in a chance to collect the higher rates fixed by the Government vessels are in line for that privilege.

And it would have been of trifling moment to Canadian shippers if the Government ships had not rates and piled up a deficit for the taxpayers to meet. The amount of the traffic they handle is a small fraction of the total. It would have made little difference to the farmers or manufacturers if the rates on that traffic had been cut while rates on the bulk of its traffic remained as they are.

Any rate cutting scheme to be worth while will have to apply to enough vessels to materially affect the business of all lines. The present contract calls for ten ships—or more if they are required. The scale will also apply to the ships of the Government. The Government-controlled rates will thus be made applicable to enough carriers to accommodate a considerable portion of the traffic, and thus to affect the business of all lines operating to Canadian Atlantic ports.

Faced by competition of that magnitude the other shipping lines will have the choice of not carrying the traffic, or of accepting the rate. It is folly not to recognize that they may do the latter, though they are scarcely likely to. Should they do so there will have to be enough Government ships available to reasonably accommodate the traffic. Low rates would do no good unless there were vessels to carry the cargoes.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Files of the Daily Bulletin, May 9, 1905.

The weather: Maximum 46, minimum 24.

According to a report of a meeting of the Calgary council contained in the local papers there, the tax rate of that city is to be 22 mills for the current year.

The police are pushing the cleanup campaign and improvements are already noticeable in the lanes behind the Jasper Avenue business houses.

Crops throughout the country are reported to be coming up evenly and rapidly. While the country is not suffering from drought, falls of snow or rain would be welcome.

Strathcona won the exhibition lacrosse game from Edmonton last evening on the Strathcona grounds by the score of 4 to 2. At the end of the first half the score stood at 3 to 1, and remained the same at the end of full time. Ten minutes of overtime were played and Strathcona scored in the last five.

An order-in-council has been passed authorizing a bonus of one and one-half cents per gallon for all crude petroleum produced in Canada.

A prominent rancher from St. Louisville was in town yesterday because he had caused a disturbance that might have ended harshly. Last night police officers on duty heard revolver shots on Jasper at "Twelve Street" and when they got there they found the rancher lying on the ground unable to get up owing to the extent of his drinking. He was found in the police station this morning for being drunk, but he claims that he was not so much as that, and that the gun is not his. A small boy who witnessed part of the event corroborates his evidence.

Current Comment

THE AWAKENING OF CHINA

If the West should fail to stand by China now we may expect some rather startling changes for China has begun to feel her strength. Time-worn resistance to the brutalized state of the country without great consideration or realization of consequences—a process of which we have already had unfortunate experience. If we fail to recognize the legitimate demands of China, the prospects of the farthest and his trade and his investments may become rather gloomy.

BRIEF STUFF

There is much discussion of the propriety of printing accounts of crime, but crime cannot be ignored. Reliable accounts of it and its results are not to be expected, but serve useful purpose. There can, however, be no room for discussion concerning the obvious impropriety and danger of the accounts of crime which tend to misrepresent the true character of the criminal and make a hero of the individual of evil tendencies due either to a mind that is warped or a mind that is deficient.

THE COCKPIT OF EUROPE

Whether Bulgaria will pass from the stage of domestic anarchy to a condition in which the outside world will be forced to take notice depends as much as anything on the outcome of the present world struggle, as exaggerated by appropriation of tobacco in food, where war is the primary cause. The attempt on the part of the monarch, Radoslav, a cohesive force between conflicting elements, is not encouraging. It serves to draw attention to the unsettled and very unsatisfactory state of affairs in a district justly known as the "cockpit of Europe."

BRITAIN'S INDUSTRIES

The competition of Germany and the United States has reduced our export trade by $7,000,000 tons, while the cost of coal remains as high as before. The white stone main factor in the stagnation of our export trade is not the competition of Germany and the United States, but the fact that the cost of coal is not adequately remunerative either the miners or the coal owners. In most instances the former are relatively worse off than in pre-war times, while the latter are better off. The percentage of profit obtained by the latter is not more than sufficient to cover the cost of working—and not always that. In short, the decisive argument against the establishment of a minimum wage which would add $20,000,000 to the wages of the industry is that it cannot be done.

PAID LAND SALES

To the Editor of the Bulletin: Would you kindly answer the following question for me? I am a man who has a farm land without a license, and where are such parcels?

Kindly yours,
MRS. J. E. BROWN.

Reply—Villages, towns and cities are authorized by law to impose a license upon real estate holders, that is, persons who carry on a real estate business. Any person carrying on a real estate business in a village or town or city is liable to a fine of $100.00, or a jail term of six months, or both, if he is not licensed. A sale made by an unlicensed person would be illegal. One small law does not make a summer and the sale of a single farm would not be carrying on a real estate business. Robert Simpson stocks sold at Hart's Auction, Ltd., 111, N. E. Evans, Ltd., Ross Aker, Ltd., Dodge Brothers and Alton, Chicago.

LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT
To the Editor of the Bulletin: We enclose herewith a statement issued by the Publishing Bureau of the Moderation League from acts gathered within the last month.

Would you be kind enough to send this report published in your valuable paper?
Yours truly,
C. P. F. CONNOR, President.

The old liquor act was in force all of 1924 and until May 1st, 1925. The act gave a fair and reasonable liquor law to the people. It was a law that had in it itself much to commend. It was a law that had in it itself much to commend. It was a law that had in it itself much to commend.

WOMEN'S LIBERAL CLUB HAS REGULAR MEETING

THE DEER, May 7.—The Women's Liberal Club held their regular meeting at Mrs. McCreedy's home, Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance, a number of readings and musical numbers contributing to the interest of the members. After the meeting adjourned, Mrs. J. Jones the president presided at a social hour, assisted by Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Stetson.

The Superintendent of the Calgary gave a most instructive paper on Saturday evening, June 6th. The speaker, who was introduced by Mr. J. J. Smith, gave some valuable suggestions for the bettering of the public health in this city. An interesting discussion followed, after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Decker.

HOST TO PIONEERS

VANCOUVER, May 8.—The city has been to several hundred of the real pioneers of the province, a reunion of the men and women who came to the city in the early days of the city's history. A three-day celebration was held at the city hall, the first of the days were guests of the Canadian Club. Many of the old timers were guests of the Canadian Club. Many of the old timers were guests of the Canadian Club.

The teacher in a London Sunday school had finished her lesson, and was about to dismiss the class, when she noticed a small child sitting alone in the corner. "And who is that?" she asked. "A little girl who is not in the class," she replied. "What is her name?" "She is called 'Exide'."
